

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One copy, one year..... $1.50
One copy, six months..... 75
One copy, four months..... 50
No deduction from these rates under any circumstances.

As we are compelled by law to pay postage in advance on papers sent outside of Ohio County, we are forced to require payment on subscriptions in advance.

All letters on business must be addressed to BARRETT & BRO., Publishers.

DIRECTORY.

COUNTY DIRECTORY.

CIRCUIT COURT.
Hon. James St. George, President.
A. L. Morton, Clerk, Hartford.
E. R. Murrell, Master Commissioner, Hartford.
C. W. Morris, Sheriff, Hartford, Deputies:
H. W. Barnes, J. C. Clark, A. T. Clark, Beaver Dam; E. H. Cooper, Fortville; S. L.
Fulkerson, Corydon; G. W. Gandy, Elizabethtown; and Mondays in May and November, and continues three weeks each term.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Hon. J. A. Murray, Judge, Doverport.
Hon. Joseph Hayenay, Attorney, Owensboro.
E. L. Moore, Clerk, Louisville.

Vourt begins on fourth Mondays in March and September, continuing two weeks each term.

COUNTY COURT.

Bon. Newton, Judge, Hartford.
Capt. Sam. C. Clark, Clerk, Hartford.

Court begins on the first Monday in every month.

QUARTERLY COURT.

Begins on the third Mondays in January, April, July and October.

COURT OF CLAIMS.

Begins on the first Mondays in January and October.

OTHER COUNTY OFFICERS.

Armistead Jones, Assessor, Hartford.
Col. W. H. Smith, Surveyor, Corydon.
A. B. Baird, State Collector, Hartford.

POLICE COURTS.

Hartford—W. H. Cummings, Judge, second
Mondays in January, April, July and October.
R. C. Miller, Clerk, Clerk, Hartford.

Beverton—J. P. Cooper, Judge, first
Saturday in January, April, July and October.
W. H. Blankenship, Marshal.

Crosslawn—P. W. Gandy, Judge, second
Saturday in January, April, July and October.
W. T. Tifford, Marshal.

Cerro—Henry Lindsey, Judge, second Saturday in January, April, July and October.
Vinton, Marshal.

Hamilton—Wm. Hamilton, Sr., Judge, postoffice address, McLeaven, second Saturday in January, April, July and October.
Wm. Hamilton, Jr., Marshal, post-office address, McLeaven.

Report—H. D. Roby, Judge, Dan, Tie-
More, Morgan, Courts held Wednesday in January, April, July and October.

Rosine—John C. King, Judge, N. H. Barnes, Marshal, Courts held Saturday in January, April, July and October.

JUSTICES COURTS.

Fayette—George Bradford, Post-office
address, Fosterville, Postmaster.

Burford—Thos. S. Taylor, Post-office Beaver
Dam.

Hartford—J. P. Stevens, Post-office Beaver Dam.

Rockport—T. R. Bishop, Post-office Center-
ton.

Rosine—W. E. Estell, Post-office, Rosine.
Cromwell—J. W. Daniel, Post-office Cromwell.

CONSTABLES.

Fayette—George Bradford, Post-office
address, Fosterville, Postmaster.

Burford—Thos. S. Taylor, Post-office Beaver
Dam.

Hartford—J. P. Stevens, Post-office Beaver Dam.

Rockport—T. R. Bishop, Post-office Center-
ton.

Rosine—W. E. Estell, Post-office, Rosine.
Cromwell—J. W. Daniel, Post-office Cromwell.

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

Baptist—Services first Sunday and Sunday night in every month and Saturday night
prior to the first Sunday—Services first Sunday
and Sunday night and fourth Sunday night
in each month—Rev. J. N. McDaniel, Pastor.

Methodist—Services first Sunday and Sunday night in every month and Saturday night
prior to the first Sunday—Services first Sunday
and Sunday night and fourth Sunday night
in each month—Rev. J. N. McDaniel, Pastor.

LARGE MEETINGS.

A. M.—HARTFORD LODGE, No. 152—
Meeting Room, Main Street, starts at 10 A. M.
H. W. WEINSTEIN, Secretary.

R. A. M.—KEystone Chapter, No. 10—
Meeting Room, Main Street, starts at 10 A. M.
E. M. McHENRY, H. P. H. WEINSTEIN, Secretary.

L. D. G. T.—HARTFORD LODGE, No. 12—
Meeting Room, Main Street, starts at 10 A. M. every Thursday evening. A general invitation is extended to members of the Lodge to visit us, and all are welcome.

Claude J. Yager, W. C. T.
Thomas Williams, W. Sec.
D. E. Thomas, L. D. S.

POST-OFFICE BULLETIN.

The Eastern mail leaves at 2 P. M., and arrives at 1 P. M. next day.
The Western mail leaves at 9:30 A. M., and arrives at 6 P. M.

Monroe—Leeds, Fosterville, Hayesville,
Lions and Leveeville leaves Hartford every Wednesday at 7:30 A. M., and arrives Thursday at 10 A. M. and Saturday at 1 P. M.

The Greenup and Monroe leaves on Tuesday and Friday at 7 A. M., and arrives
Monday and Thursday at 10 A. M.

The Covington mail arrives at 10 A. M., and departs at 1 P. M. Wednesday.

R. P. ROWE, Postmaster.

PROFESSIONAL CARDS.

S. P. ROBY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice his profession in any of the Courts of Ohio or adjoining counties. He is also Notary Public. Office over R. P. Rowe's Grocery store.

E. D. WALKER,
E. H. HUBBARD,
LAWYERS,
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice in Ohio and adjoining counties, also in the Court of Appeals.

H. D. MCHENRY,
MCHENRY & HILL,
ATTORNEYS & COUNSELORS AT LAW
HARTFORD, KY.

Will practice in Ohio and adjoining counties, and in the Court of Appeals of Kentucky.

W. M. GREGORY,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

Prompt attention given to the collection of claims. Office, Grand Jury room.

J. EDWIN ROWE,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
Offer over H. P. Anderson's Store,
HARTFORD, KY.

Prompt attention given to the collection of all claims.

CHAS. M. PENDLETON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
HARTFORD, KY.

Prompt attention given to the collection of claims.

SANDUSKY HOUSE,
OWENSBORO JUNCTION,

This House has just been overhauled and repaired and put in first-class repair for the entertainment of guests.

The house is well lighted and well ventilated.

Extra accommodations for ladies.

The table is supplied at all times with the best country afford. Charge reasonable.

W. H. SANDUSKY,
Proprietor.

THE HARTFORD HERALD.

"I COME, THE HERALD OF A NOISY WORLD, THE NEWS OF ALL NATIONS LUMBERING AT MY BACK."

VOL. 5.

HARTFORD, KENTUCKY, NOVEMBER 26, 1879.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Spacings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	10	11	12
1	$1.00	$1.50	$2.00	$2.50	$3.00	$3.50	$4.00	$4.50	$5.00	$5.50	$6.00	$6.50
Two	1.75	2.50	3.00	3.50	4.00	4.50	5.00	5.50	6.00	6.50	7.00	7.50
Three	2.50	3.50	4.00	4.50	5.00	5.50	6.00	6.50	7.00	7.50	8.00	8.50
Four	3.00	4.50	5.00	5.50	6.00	6.50	7.00	7.50	8.00	8.50	9.00	9.50
Five	3.50	5.00	6.00	6.50	7.00	7.50	8.00	8.50	9.00	9.50	10.00	10.50
Six	4.00	6.00	7.00	7.50	8.00	8.50	9.00	9.50	10.00	10.50	11.00	11.50
Seven	4.50	7.00	8.00	8.50	9.00	9.50	10.00	10.50	11.00	11.50	12.00	12.50
Eight	5.00	8.00	9.00	9.50	10.00	10.50	11.00	11.50	12.00	12.50	13.00	13.50
Nine	5.50	9.00	10.00	10.50	11.00	11.50	12.00	12.50	13.00	13.50	14.00	14.50
Ten	6.00	9.50	10.50	11.00	11.50	12.00	12.50	13.00	13.50	14.00	14.50	15.00
Eleven	6.50	10.00	11.00	11.50	12.00	12.50	13.00	13.50	14.00	14.50	15.00	15.50
Twelve	7.00	10.50	11.50	12.00	12.50	13.00	13.50	14.00	14.50	15.00	15.50	16.00

For a shorter time, at proportionate rates.
One inch of space constitutes a square.

WHOLESALE HARDWARE.

HART & CO.,
DEALERS IN
HARDWARE,
CUTLERY AND GUNS.
280 West Main Street, between 7th and 8th.
LOUISVILLE, KY.

Largest Assortment in the South. Lowest Prices. Special Inducements to Cash and Short Time Merchants. Prices Mailed upon Application. Give us a trial.

MILLER Brothers' Pocket Knives, Blanket Knives, Cross Cut Stars, Oval Starlights, Gad Picks, etc., Diamond Pointed Horse Nails, the celebrated Hard Axes, (Hickory), Gold Dollar Axes, Bars and Church Bells, Also Numerous Stationery and Pressed Tin Ware.

JOSEPH MULHANAN, Traveling Salesman.

The New Grocery!

I have purchased of Messrs J. F. COLLINS & CO. their entire stock of goods, and will continue the business in the same house occupied by them. I intend to keep a full assortment of the

BEST FAMILY and FANCY GROCERIES, CUTLERY,

HARDWARE, AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS

CIGARS, TOBACCO,

CONFECTONERIES,

FRUITS, NOTIONS,

and all articles usually kept in a first-class grocery house. I will also keep a full stock of

PURE LIQUORS, BRANDIES,

Monarch and other first-class brands of whiskies for sale by the drink or otherwise. I am anxious to supply my friends and acquaintances and the public generally with their goods, and will do so at low prices for cash or in exchange for country produce. I will be thankful for your patronage. Remember the place, J. F. Collins' old stand. Respectfully,

GEO. A. PLATT,

HARTFORD, KENTUCKY.

FREE A VALUABLE INVENTION
THE WORLD RENOWNED

WILSON SEWING MACHINE.

In workmanship is equal to a Chronometer Watch, and as elegantly finished as a first-class Piano. It received the highest awards at the Vienna and Centennial Expositions. IT SEWS ONE-FOURTH FASTER than other machines. Its capacity is unlimited. There are more WILSON MACHINES sold in the United States than the combined sales of all the others. The WILSON MENDING ATTACHMENT for doing all kinds of repairing, WITHOUT PATCHING, given FREE with each machine.

AGENTS
WILSON SEWING MACHINE CO.

827 & 829 Broadway, New York; New Orleans, La.; Cor. State & Madison Sts., Chicago, Ills.; and San Francisco, Cal.

NEW DRUG STORE.

Thomas & Kimbley,

Have purchased and will open an entire new stock of

Pure Drugs, Medicines,

E. SMALL'S

TRADE PALACE

Still Ahead.

SELLS ALL KINDS OF

Dry Goods at a Big Discount!

Dress Goods the Greatest Variety, new shades, new styles, new materials, cheaper than the cheapest.

Comforts and Blankets, Horse Blankets, Shawls, Skirts, Waterproofs, Flannels, Eastern and Home-made Linseys, Canton Flannels, largest stock in the country and prices to defy competition.

Clothing, Children's Boy's Youth's and Men's in Dress & Business Suits.

OVERCOATS, PRICES AND QUALITY TO SUIT EVERYBODY.

Ladies' Cloaks, the Best and Cheapest. Ladies' Hats a Special Feature. Men's, Youths', Boys' and Children's Hats and Caps, larger stock than ever. Last, but not least, Shoes and Boots. The entire stock bought at Assignees Sale for Cash. Call and examine for yourself.

E. SMALL.

THE HERALD.
LYCOURSES BARRETT - LOCAL EDITOR
WEDNESDAY, NOV. 26, 1871.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

N. J. Harris, of Greenville, is a candidate for Sergeant-at-Arms of the next Senate of Kentucky.

These are hog-killing times.

Chew Jackson's Sweet Navy Tobacco.

Rev. J. S. McDaniel will preach at Concord church next Sunday at 11 o'clock.

Steady in front—prices still coming down, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Hocker, Farratt & Co., of the vicinity of Crownell, threshed 4,507 bushels of wheat this season.

Carpenter's tools of all kinds, at prices to defy competition, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Small wheel-rocks are good substitutes for soap. For reference, call on J. Edwin Rowe and Armistead Rowe.

Table cutlery from 65 cents per set, up; pocket cutlery in endless variety of styles at KLEIN & BRO'S.

The new school building is being covered and is beginning to attract the attention of the passer by.

A mammoth stock of stoves, tinware, hollow-ware, &c., lower than the lowest, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

We want a few bushels of unshelled corn. Any of our patrons indebted to us who have not the money to pay, can fix it in this way.

Pitchers, bowls, dishes in great variety, and a large assortment of glassware, all at low rates, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Mr. Jesse N. Hudson has left at our office a forked pipe made of a corn cob.

The largest and best lot of hardware, nails, cross-cut and hand saws, mill, cross-cut and hand saw files, ever brought to this market, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Iron-stone China plates, at 40, 45 and 55 cents per set. Iron-stone China teacups and saucers at 40 to 55 cents per set, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Virgil Render of color, was injured on Wednesday last in the Taylor coal mines by a premature explosion of a blast. He died on Saturday morning from the injuries received therefrom.

The largest lot of axes ever brought to this market from the best manufacturers in the United States, at prices from 65 cents to 1, at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Greenville is talking about street lamps. A good thing. We have them, and the boys find the posts very convenient props at times. Besides the sober portion of town can see so much better in the dark with good lighting than without them.

WANTED—The McHenry Coal Company want five miles 12<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> hands high, to work in the coal-mines. Also 2,000 bushels of corn for which they will pay the highest market price. Call on or address W. G. DUNCAN, Sup't., McHENRY, KY.

A thief entered the smoke-house of E. Bratcher at Goff's Crossing last Wednesday night, and carried off the last scrap of meat. He also took a few chickens. Mr. Bratcher has killed more meat and is now ready for the thief to call again.

Mr. E. S. Edgerton respectfully informs the citizens of Hartford and vicinity, that he intends to remain at this place and carry on the painting business in all its branches, house, sign and carriage work, graining, paper hanging, &c., done in the latest style. All work guaranteed to give satisfaction. All favors in his line will be thankfully received, and promptly attended to.

46-41 E. S. Edgerton.

A Christmas tree is talked of.

One barrel of New Orleans molasses new crop, just received at KLEIN & BRO'S.

Call on V. P. Addington if you want a fine overcoat.

Best assortment of greenapples can be had at Geo. A. Platt's.

Hardwick & Nall have a full and splendid line of winter boots and shoes.

Daniel Hines, of color, brought us last week, a flying squirrel, caught by him in a trap.

The merchant in Centertown is named Jones. A typographical error in this paper last week made it James.

A nice lot of clothing of my own make for sale at reasonable prices.

V. P. ADDINGTON.

D. S. C. Tichenor has left with us a specimen of fine tobacco, which is hard to beat.

We understand that Revs. W. P. Bennett and L. C. Tiehen were to have commenced a protracted meeting Waterton's creek church last night.

Mr. Wm. Phipps has sold his house and lot on the hill near the bridge to J. W. Ford. Confidence in real estate in Hartford is strengthening.

Mr. Frazee, of Rockport circuit, preached two sermons at his appointment at Hopewell, last week. We learn that he gave general satisfaction.

When you come to town don't hitch your horse out in the rain and cold, but take it to Field's livery stable, where for a small sum, you can have it well cared for.

The shower of meteors, for which so many of our town people were gazing, did not come, but Dan. F. Tracy's blacksmith shop is here. The sparks to behold. Farmers, call and see him.

J. T. JOLICHART, Agent.

The depot at Livermore was burned down last Thursday night. Supposed to have been fired by some rascals. Our neighboring town is in bad luck as to fires.

Thanks to Mrs. Eileen Barnett for two very fine squashes, usually called potato pumpkin. They were very large and have a rich flavor much like that of the common sweet potato.

MARRIED—At the residence of Mr. Had Keown, near Crownell, Ky., on Friday, November 21st, 1871, by Rev. B. F. Jenkins, Mr. C. W. Banney to Miss Dove-Norman. Charley has caged the dove.

There will be services at the Methodist church on Thursday at 11 o'clock in response to messages of the President and Governor of Kentucky. Let there be a full house.

Mrs. Talitha Hall, wife of John Hall, near Fordsville died November 1870. Mrs. Hall was quite an elderly lady. Mr. Jasper Reynolds gave her above facts.

The storm week before last laid about five acres of timber on the land of Capt. Sam. E. Hill, near Sulphur Springs, flat to the ground. Not a single tree was left. The Captain now is prepared to furnish that neighborhood with wood.

Prof. E. S. Edgerton has rented the dwelling formerly occupied by R. P. Row, and has gone to keep-house. We are glad to know that Prof. Edgerton has become one of the permanent fixtures of our town.

Santa Claus is coming soon and Hardwick & Nall have prepared for him with a full line of Christmas goods. Hats, caps, and all kinds of winter goods at Hardwick & Nall's, and all for sale bargains for cash.

Strayed from home near the mouth of Hall's creek, a room boy, 12 years old, blind in left eye, and knot on left side. Any one returning same or giving information of her will be paid for their trouble.

[Continued from editorial page.]
but innumerable packages of dry goods, great quantities of shoes, hats, clothing, and supplies sufficient to last the family for five years, all of which had been bought for the small sum of fifteen dollars at Anderson's Bazaar.

Prof. Edgerton has no singing school to-night. He gives way to Prof. Parker's lecture, and he and Mrs. Edgerton will make music for Prof. Parker while the audience is gathering. The Singing school has been postponed until Friday night on account of the lecture of Prof. Parker at the church Wednesday night.

A college professor once said that he who expects to rate high in his class, must not expect to do well on the door. Much of the hawking and splitting was, no doubt, caused by parochial, which the professor knew could be readily cured by the use of a few bottles of Dr. Sage's Tarrh Remedy.

—Last Wednesday night a pile of timber belonging to W. T. Bean, and a fence at Sulphur Springs, were found burning; but the fire was extinguished before much damage was done. J. B. Canan and W. T. Bean had houses near by that would have burned if the fire had not been discovered. J. B. Canan got an ankle sprained in the excitement. The tree is thought to be the work of an incendiary.

—The following is a list of papers taken at the Hartford Post Office, in 1853, when J. T. Benton was P. M.:
The Louisville Democrat..... 34
Hitchens and Encyclopedias..... 2
Louisville Bulletin..... 2
Louisville Courier..... 28
Louisville Journal, (weekly)..... 12
Louisville Journal, (tri-weekly)..... 3
American Courier, (Pitts.)..... 2
Play of the Union, (Boston)..... 3
American Repository, (Washington)..... 4
Ladies' Companion, (Nashville)..... 3
Russellville Herald..... 3
Oneida Chief, (N. Y.)..... 1
Scientific American..... 1
American Railway Times..... 1
The three papers were taken by J. P. Tracy. Among the above list of subscribers at that time were many names now almost forgotten. Also many of those who now pass as old men. Think of the present list of newspaper subscribers at Hartford office below examined 26 years hence. How many are now living who would respond to their call? This are we admonished that "time is whirling us away to our eternal home. Life is but a winter's day—a journey to the tomb."

—A wedding that did not wed. Miss Flora Dean, of Breckinridge county, well known in Hartford, was made the victim of the intrusiveness of man in a very embarrassing manner on the 21st Inst. A man by the name of Hardaway, of Hopewell, was engaged to marry Miss Dean, and extensive preparations had been made to have an elegant wedding. But the groom failed to come to time. Such infidelity should be punished severely. Society should shut down upon the too common practice of trifling with the affections of the young. Miss Dean has the sympathies of her friends. There is nothing meaner—no practice more consummate than a wilful betrayal of confidence under profession of love. We do not pass judgment upon either party in the above case—not knowing what modifying circumstances there may be. But there certainly is no excuse for Hardaway not giving notice of his declining in time to save the family the trouble and embarrassment of preparing for the wedding.

Dissolution of Partnership.

Notice is hereby given that the firm of Wedding & Whittier, of Fordsville, Ohio county, has been dissolved—Baron Whittier having bought the interest of T. J. Wedding. Whittier assumes all liabilities of the outstanding business of the firm.

World of Good.

One of the most popular medicines now before the American public is Hop Bitters. You see it everywhere. People take it with good effect. It builds them up. It is not as pleasant to the taste as some other Bitters, it is not a whisky drink. It is more like the old fashioned bone set tea that has done a world of good. If you don't feel just right try Hop Bitters.—Medical News.

46-41

—A Bloody Affray.

John Ryan and John Martin were at Crownell last Saturday, and on their return home, near "Bleeding Jorgins' gate," fell out and concluded to fight it out. Some of their acquaintances were present and just let 'em rip. Ryan got knocked down and lay out in the leg, supposed to have been done with his own knife, as it is known that he had or used a knife. Martin got one cut off, a severe gash in the face near the mouth, several stabs in the back, and pretty badly used generally. Martin lives in Butler county, and we understand was carried home Sunday, and Ryan was at last accounted for at Mr. J. H. Tarrence's. We suppose they will both recover, and we feel certain that the Commonwealth ought to recover from one or the other, or may be both of them, a considerable sum for the wound inflicted in her peace, dignity, and law and order. The papers are out, and no doubt they will get justice.

FRANK WHITTIER.

—Prof. E. S. Edgerton has rented the dwelling formerly occupied by R. P. Row, and has gone to keep-house. We are glad to know that Prof. Edgerton has become one of the permanent fixtures of our town.

Santa Claus is coming soon and Hardwick & Nall have prepared for him with a full line of Christmas goods. Hats, caps, and all kinds of winter goods at Hardwick & Nall's, and all for sale bargains for cash.

Strayed from home near the mouth of Hall's creek, a room boy, 12 years old, blind in left eye, and knot on left side. Any one returning same or giving information of her will be paid for their trouble.

FRANK WHITTIER.

—Mrs. Wm. Warden, of Equality neighborhood, was very sick last Saturday night and Sunday, but was a little better when last heard from, and hopes are entertained of her recovery.

—The Hartford Water Mills are up with their work, although the wheat grinding has increased considerably since they reduced toll to one tenth. They have a fine head of water, ample sufficient for all purposes. Come right along with your grain, get it ground and return the same day.

—D. J. Tucker has lost his leg on Rough creek ready to run the first race. He has them contracted to parties in Evansville, but we cannot give the name. We threw our jaw out of place trying to speak it, broke the point of a dozen pencils trying to write it. The first syllable of the name of the first member of the firm sounds like the name of that torrid zone where all delinquent subscribers go after death.

FRANK WHITTIER.

—Igerorn and His Logie, or Man and His Relations.

A lecture is to be delivered by Prof. C. Parker at the Methodist church, tonight, beginning at 7 o'clock.

Logan, combative argument that should be heard by everybody, especially the intelligent.

—T. J. Tucker has lost his leg on Rough creek ready to run the first race.

He has them contracted to parties in Evansville, but we cannot give the name. We threw our jaw out of place trying to speak it, broke the point of a dozen pencils trying to write it. The first syllable of the name of the first member of the firm sounds like the name of that torrid zone where all delinquent subscribers go after death.

FRANK WHITTIER.

—TUTT'S HAIR DYE.

Gray Hair or Whiskers changed to a Black by a single application of this Dye. It is a Patent Medicine, and the only one of its kind. It is sold in Druggists' offices throughout the country.

Office 33 Murray St., New York.

PRICE 25 CENTS.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world.

46-41

E. S. Edgerton.

Attention, Company!

Know ye, that the undersigned has opened a Blacksmith Shop at Joe Vaughn's old stand, and takes pleasure in announcing that he is prepared to do all kinds of iron work with neatness and dispatch. He has employed the well-known smiths, Mack Ford and J. H. James, who are always ready to meet the wants of their customers.

Remember that he warrants all work equal to the best. He asks a share of the public patronage. He can prove what he says to be true. No material change in prices, although iron has advanced in the markets. Live, and let live, is his motto. Bring on your work. DAN. F. TRACY.

46-41

Employment for the Winter.

We have an agency at our disposal for two good selling books. None but a good man need apply.

Unhinged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife who was always doctoring, and never well-treated me, suggested to her that I should be un-hinged again, and I am glad I did, for in less than 2 months use of the Bitters my wife was cured and she has remained so for eighteen months since. I like such Unhinging.

—T. T., St. Paul. 46-21 L Page.

To Prevent and Cure Congs and Cold.

A reliable remedy is necessary in every household. Parker's Ginger Tonic is just the medicine needed. It radically cures Congs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis and even Consumption if used in time, by its powerful specific action on the Stomach, Kidneys, Skin, Liver, Heart, Lungs, Spleen, &c., and gives a delicious comfort and freedom from pain that surprises every one. Buy a 20 oz. or $1.00 bottle and try it. Sold by Z. Wayne Griffin & Brother and druggists generally.

33 row-3n

A Rare Treat in Store.

We have engaged Mr. V. M. Metcalf to lecture for the benefit of those who may attend our corn and tobacco fair. He is thoroughly posted in agriculture, in all its phases, is decidedly practical in his notions and is a pleasant entertaining speaker.

Farm Notes.

WEIGHTS and measures are recognized by the laws of the United States; Bushel... lbs. Bushel... lbs. Wheat..... 56 Bluegrass seed... 14 Shelled corn..... 56 Dried peaches... 24 Corn in ear..... 56 Dried pears... 39 Rye..... 56 Unions... 57 Oats..... 57 Salt... 50 Barley..... 57 Saffron... 50 Irish potatoes... 56 Stone coal... 50 Sweet potatoes... 56 Bran... 50 White beans... 56 Plastering hair... 56 Castor beans... 56 Turnips... 56 Clover seed... 56 Turnips at root... 56 Timothy seed... 56 Vine salt... 55 Flax seed... 56 Hungarian grass Hemp seed... 56 seed... 50 Millet seed... 56 Ground peas... 50 Peas..... 56

How to lay off a square acre of ground.—Measure 200 feet on each side, and you will have a square acre within an inch.

Contents of an acre.—An acre contains 1,840 square yards. A square mile contains 640 acres.

EAGLE GREENE, Nov. 17.

Editor Herald.—Loss in your paper of the 12th, a dialogue between Dr. Sharp and Softy Green. I don't think Green had a fair shake. Now Mr. Editor, I don't believe either of these persons are tritomers. They develop a common practice of saying and knowing more about other men's professions than their own. I hope you will give Green a chance to relate in kind.

MORE ABOUT KEEPING POOL.

If you are a professional man, of course you have an office. Be sure to get to your office at 5:50, A.M., sharp. Leave it at 6:01, A.M., prompt, start down west side of Main street, walk briskly, stop, observe and pass all the new arrivals of goods, and give advice as to the best method of displaying the same; walk very briskly to the first grocery, look around; if you see any apples be sure to test their flavor—other good things to like manner. Then deliver a learned lecture on apples and their propagation.—You will be sure to leave the groceriana in a different mood from what you found him. Then start across to the North-east corner, walk fast; by this time farmers are coming to town; be sure you see the entire contents of their wagons, ask the price of pork, and be sure you tell the farmer you buy your meats from the regular butcher. If you see a farmer with a basket or bucket on his arm, walk up and uncover it and tell him you want a bushel, regardless of price. Be particular to see that he has not a bushel, and you will leave him boozing. By this time dinner is ready. If court is in session, eat very fast; walk lively until you arrive at the bar; hang up your plug close to the judge's stand, put on a very wise expression of countenance, reach deep and far down in your side pocket, draw forth a bundle of papers in a bull envelope; keep the backling next to you, so the people will not see that they are the same you exhibited at the last term of court. If you see a Granger looking sleepy, approach him, begin at once to denounce the extravagance and want of harmony in our laws; be sure to refer to special legislation, impress the importance of selecting the best men, also give him the particulars of a skeleton bill you have to offer to the next legislature. When you are about half through, turn abruptly around and leave him. Be sure to arrive at your office by 5:50, P.M., and leave at 6:01, P.M., for supper. Follow this every day, and if you are not President of the United States, do not blame SOFTY GREEN.

THE CROPS.—The following is a report of the condition of cotton, wheat, tobacco and corn as reported by the Department of Agriculture on the 15th of November:

—There was decided improvement in the condition of cotton during October. Unfavorable weather was reported in Georgia and Alabama. In all other States it was favorable. The total number of yield per acre of 576 pounds of lint, against 550 pounds last year. This yield, estimating the area planted at two per cent, more than last year, would make a deficit in this year's crop of 250,000 bales of 500 pounds each. All the South Atlantic States show the same decline. Texas falls off thirty-five per cent. All the States bordering on the Mississippi river show decided gains.

WHEAT.—Returns of November 1, show an increase in the wheat crop of 26,000,000 bushels over last year. This great increase is the result of a very large yield in all States bordering on the Ohio river and Missouri. The Northwestern States show little variation, but last year Kansas and California both decline in yield. The former is ever so slight, and is probably due to the fact that the wheat is a heavy crop. The latter is a heavy crop, and is probably due to the fact that the wheat is a heavy crop.

CORN.—According to the returns of November 1, the corn crop shows an increase of over 100,000,000 bushels, or nearly fifteen per cent, over last year. The Atlantic and Gulf coast States note some decrease, but other sections of the Union have greatly increased their yields. The Southern inland States increase nearly thirty per cent, over other sections, and the Mississippi valley nearly twenty. The Pacific States report about the same yield as last year.—Country Journal.

WHEN AND HOW TO PRUNE TREES.

The question of the time of pruning trees must be settled, in a greater or less degree, by the climate and nature of the tree. As a rule, at the South, winter pruning, performed directly after the fall of the leaf, is largely practiced. In the North, pruning is done in many cases, usually in February, and is continued through the months of March, April, and, in some localities, later. Hardy trees there are, which may be pruned whenever the farmers find leisure between the dropping of the foliage and the second month of spring. Trustworthy cultivators advise pruning just as the leaves begin to swell, because the fruit and leaf buds are then readily distinguished from the other.

Of all the trees the apple is most benefited by pruning; the quince is also better for Edition cutting back. Generally speaking, sweet cherry trees call for sparse pruning only. All trees are liable to injury from the removal of large branches; this statement holds especially true with the peach.

Mark Two on Boxes.

At a meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, where the usual diversity of opinion was expressed in a discussion concerning, one member ad- vised, when the fruit should be taken off, cutting the under side of limb part way through first, to prevent it from splitting down the trunk and leaving an ugly scar. A liquid grafting wax was also recommended for covering the cut surface. The practice of cutting the limb twice—the first time lengthwise from the top, leaving the second sawing, was advocated at the same meeting. The first cutting was advised at any convenient season, and the last one to be done in the summer. The judicious pruning of fruit trees rests on several general principles which should be thoroughly understood. First, that of a tree subjected to pruning demands great judgment in the equal distribution of sun in all its branches. To accomplish this the following means may be employed. Prune the branches of vigorous parts short and weak parts long. Leave a large quantity of fruit on the strong parts, remove from the vigorous parts as possible, and from the feeble parts as late as may be. Pinch out the soft extremities of the shoots on the vigorous parts, and delay this process on the feeble parts.

Another principle to be regarded is, the sap sets with greater force and produces more vigorous growth on a branch which has been pruned. The first cut should be made from the top, leaving the limb short when wood branches are desired and long for fruit branches. Other things to be remembered in pruning, whether this be done to induce fruit or to diminish it, are—the sap tending always to the extremes of the shoots, causes the terminal buds to grow greater than the basal ones. One of these exudes the unconscious fruit of the future, but the other, a word of dead earnest, imprudently, but perfectly justifiable, profanity over it, too. In another the future-renowned astronomer is blushing at the shining Milky Way with but a liquid interest—poor little chap—and wondering what has become of that other one they call the wet nurse. In another the future—of which we are told nothing—has come to stay, and the sap is now more abundant than six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends very largely on the man's habit. Who has been accustomed to sleep eight hours out of the twenty-four finds it impossible to get on with anything less. He who lies in bed but five or six hours habitually, soon finds that six hours are sufficient for any vigorous person; others that will answer. No absolute rule, however, can be laid down, as the amount of sleep depends